

More than empathetic, I will know where your hands are. If I survive your antibodies I will have a walk-in closet full of shoes and make a pretense of necessity, a virtue, then a state of grace, and in my medical facility four doctors out of five have healthy habits but the other doctor has the scarecrow's brain and in my public swimming pool the scarecrow and I share a lane.